A WISE REMARK FROM AN OLD POLITICIAN.

The republican campaign in Ohio was not aided to any extent by the sickness of Governor Foraker, neither by the reckless blunder of Murat Halsted in his attack on Mr. Campbell, the democratic candidate against Foraker. Mr. Halsted, with all his ability and some good qualities, has not been able to draw about him, and in fact about the party in this campaign, the support which both deserve. It is largely royal or rain with him, and the policy has not been satisfactory. Bullheadedness never pays. It is not good politics to attempt to carry a point when the result makes a score and engenders bitterness. There is a powerful influence as well as a wise policy in that spirit of conciliation which brings strength to the party and good feeling.

Simon Cameron was a political stager whose advice, like that of Thurlow Weed's, was always worth heeding. This country never produced a sharper politician than the elder Cameron. He ruled the politics of Pennsylvania with a powerful hand. His dynasty force of running things was truly remarkable, but he did it wisely. At one time when the old man had given the reins of government to "Don" his son, a question arose as to appointment of a temporary chairman of a convention. Don is no politician like his father was. He is cold, selfish, stubborn, and self-willed. The father was never that way. About the chairman the father said, "Don't do it, why not conciliate the other faction by letting their man go in as temporary chairman; it can't do you any harm, and when the time for real work comes your man will go in gracefully." Don refused to heed this sapient counsel, and vowed he'd have both places. "All right," said the old gentleman "have your own way, but if your man gets licked don't you come to me for sympathy." Don persisted, and his candidate for permanent chairman did get badly licked. "Don," said his father that night, as they took a glass of wine together, "Don, when you die you'll be richer, probably, than I will, but you won't have half as big a funeral!"

There is deep wisdom in the remark of the elder Cameron. He never surrendered a principle; never bartered his influence; never failed to carry his point; made friends on all sides, and among his warmest were the democrats while he was a rapid republican; time and time again did young democrats seek advice from Simon Cameron as to the propriety of running for office, and the advice was always useful; and when he died, no politician of Pennsylvania ever had a larger funeral.

THE SCHOOL QUESTION IN POLITICS.

It is said that Governor Hoard has decided to make the school question the issue of the next election. This is a fearless cutting of the Gordian knot and so unlike the calculating hesitancy of the school politician that one is constrained to ask whether Hoard is willing to sacrifice himself to strengthen a principle. Cleveland did not and he is more honored in defeat to-day than he would be had he been elected through adherence to a policy of evasion and compromise. What is more important, his defeat has strengthened the principle for which he contended.

But Gov. Hoard is acting wisely in making the teaching of English an open question. Whatever the result to him, it strengthens his party in 1892. Do what he might he would encounter the secret opposition of those who are opposed to English instruction. An open fight makes them "show their hand," and really places the people in the position of voting on the question whether English shall be taught or not. This is what Gov. Hoard has done by his positive and aggressive action. It may be disastrous to him, but the reaction, in such an event, cannot be injurious to the democratic party. It is a far-sighted movement, but would not be made by any one not willing to sacrifice himself.—Monrovia Pilot.

In these two paragraphs are some sensible words from a democratic paper. They show a greater degree of wisdom and independence than are usually found in democratic journals. As to the principle involved in the school question, the Pilot is right; as to the consequences to it a republican party next year, it may well be suggested that the Pilot is wrong.

No honest, intelligent, fair-minded American, no matter whether he was born here or first saw light across the seas, will contend for a moment that the Bennett law is wrong in principle or bad in politics. No American citizen, who desires that all children in this country shall grow to intelligent, honorable, and useful manhood and womanhood, can object to a law which rightly and justly provides that all these little Americans, born of foreign parents, shall be taught the English language. Such a law is so just, so progressive, so sympathetic to the children who need an education in the language of the country in which they will spend all the days of their lives, that one would suppose both political parties would become enthusiastic supporters of the law. The best building that can be done for the little children of foreign parents who stand in sore need of an education of the kind which will help them on in life, is to give them the benefits of such a law as that enacted by the legislature of Wisconsin last winter.

Those who judge that the courage Governor Hoard has taken in supporting such a measure as the Bennett law, will defeat him, are not wise in their judgment, neither are they good politicians. Governor Hoard will be re-nominated of course, and that without opposition from any source, and he will be elected. The republican party has nothing else to do but nominate him, and to do it in the same spirit that it made his nomination unanimous last year.

FOUND A DYNAMITE BOMB. TEN SCHOOL CHILDREN SERIOUSLY HURT.

Three Burned to Death as the Result of Train Wreckers' Work—The Casualty Record.

FRANKLIN, Pa., Oct. 26.—A number of school children found a bomb loaded with dynamite near the school house of the Clay farm, near here, Friday evening. While attempting to open it with a knife it exploded with terrible results. Two of the children, named Fitzgerald and Roger, are fatally hurt, while eight others are in a serious condition. Fitzgerald's arm was blown off and his face was terribly disfigured. Roger's right eye was blown out and his face fearfully lacerated. The others were cut about the head and body by the fragments of the bomb, which had been made by some one for the purpose of killing fish.

THINK THE THIRTY-SEVEN DEAD.

Fears for the Safety of Those Aboard the Schooner Forest Fairy.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 26.—Aug. 22 the three-masted schooner Forest Fairy sailed from here for Flores, Fayal and Graciosa in the Western Islands. Sixty-five days have elapsed and the Forest Fairy and her passengers and crew have not been heard of. Altogether there were thirty-seven on board the vessel, and their fate is thought to have been a fearful one. Twenty-seven of these were passengers and Portuguese by birth, who were returning to the Azores either for the benefit of their health or to improve their financial condition.

FIRE AT PORT LEYDON, N. Y.

Much of the Business Property of the Town Destroyed.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 26.—Much of the business property of Port Leydon, Lewis county, was destroyed by fire early this morning. The Douglas house, which was a large store, the postoffice, and several dwellings were destroyed. Fifteen families lost their homes and much of their possessions. The flames spread so rapidly that people had little time to save anything.

THREE BURNED TO DEATH.

Train-Wreckers Cause an Awful Accident Near Kokomo, Ind.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 26.—An oil train on the Lake Erie & Western was wrecked on the outskirts of Kokomo this morning. Twelve oil tanks burned, and the following trainmen were burned to death: JACOB MEHL, engineer; EDWARD BURNETT, fireman; JOHN SHELLMAN, brakeman. They all live at Peru, Ind. Train-wreckers caused it.

Result of an Iowa Collision.

Major C. C. Iowa, Oct. 26.—A very damaging collision occurred on the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road between the Garret and Britt Thursday night. Engineer John Seranton was running a freight train westward, and Frank Newbrow was coming east with an extra train. The train going west was to stop at a switch four miles west of Clear Lake and wait for the regular passenger train. In some way the orders were misunderstood, and a mile west of the switch the collision occurred. The engineers and firemen jumped from their engines and were injured. The two engines and several freight cars were badly wrecked.

Father and Two Sons Seriously Injured.

GRAND, Ohio, Oct. 26.—The roof of the new hot blast of the Girard furnace fell in while a number of workmen were engaged upon it, precipitating the men a distance of twenty feet. The falling timbers broke a large steam pipe and the escaping steam terribly scalded William Anderson and his two sons, Dell and Charles. They were badly cut, but may recover. Four others sustained hot cuts and bruises, but were not dangerously hurt.

Drowned by the Capsizing of a Boat.

LA CROSSE, Wis., Oct. 26.—A small boat coming across the river in a small boat was tipped over by a high wind and the crew current just in front of the city. Only one could swim and he struck out for the shore, but the boat was so full of all on one side, keeping it rolling over and over. Edward Foreberg was drowned, but the two others floated against the dock and were saved, though too exhausted to walk.

Wrecked by an Open Switch.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Oct. 26.—Friday evening the fast mail collided with the passenger train from Cincinnati at Holton, a town fourteen miles east of this place. The switch was left open, thus causing the accident. The engines of both trains were demolished, together with several cars. One passenger received scalp wounds, but they are not dangerous.

The Steamer Baltimore Ashore.

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 26.—The vessel ashore at Cape Henry is the Johnston line steamer Baltimore. She is resting on her bow 600 yards beyond the high-water mark. The Merit Wrecking company's steamer Rescue is on hand. The cargo is supposed to be dry goods, glass, and tin plates.

Premature Discharge of a Cannon.

ZANESVILLE, Ohio, Oct. 26.—A cannon being fired at a political meeting, discharged prematurely. William Nevitt, who was running down the charge was blown fifty feet over an embankment and fatally injured.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

Business for the Week at Leading Cities as Reported to Bradstreet's.

New York, Oct. 26.—Bradstreet's "State of Trade" says "special telegraphic investigation of domestic money markets reveals that funds were easy yesterday at forty-nine out of sixty-nine cities reported, important ones reporting funds working close being Chicago, Baltimore, Cleveland, Toledo, Peoria, Dayton, Birmingham, Ala., Cincinnati, St. Louis and Omaha.

Merchandise collections were reported slow or unsatisfactory at nineteen points, chief among them the two Portlands, Providence, Sacramento, Burlington, Iowa, Grand Rapids, Detroit and Toledo. Wheat flour is less active for export, owing to lower offers and higher ocean rates. Wheat has been heavily sold at times, the total at New York aggregating nearly 70,000,000 bushels for the week. Exports of wheat and flour are reported to have been 2,196,400 bushels this week against 2,758,334 bushels last week in 1888. Total shipments abroad from July 1 to date equal 32,641,103 this year, against 34,184,458 bushels in 1888 and 53,000,000 bushels in 1887. The business failures reported number 19 in the United States this week, against 205 last week and 38 this week last year. The total of failures in the United States from Jan. 1 to date is 9,132, against 8,074 in 1888.

FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Monthly Statement of the Treasury Department.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The monthly statement issued by the treasury department showing the condition of the silver surplus now indicates $5,419,328 in silver dollars in the treasury against which certificates can be issued.

This is slightly in excess of the amount at the last statement, issued Oct. 10. This apparent increase, however, has been brought about at the expense of silver certificates held in the treasury, as nearly $1,000,000 of these have been issued in the last ten days.

The treasury of the treasury to issue further silver certificates is about $1,000,000 less than it was at the beginning of the month. Nearly $2,000,000 has been added also during the month to the number of silver dollars actually in circulation.

"LIFE" HALFORD TO RESIGN.

Owing to His Ill Health He May Be Succeeded by D. S. Alexander.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—It is stated that Elijah Halford, private secretary to the President, is resigning his position and that D. S. Alexander of Buffalo, N. Y., has been offered Mr. Halford's place. The fact that Mr. Halford has for months been practically an invalid has helped to substantiate the statement. For the past month he has, because of ill-health, been incapacitated for duty. He is now at the Hygeia hotel, Fort Monroe, under the care of a physician. Should the President accept his resignation little surprise would be created. It is believed that Mr. Halford became private secretary very unwillingly. It is hinted that perhaps he may return to his old berth as managing editor of the Indianapolis Journal, though his health will not permit for some time his assuming active work. D. S. Alexander, who is regarded as Mr. Halford's probable successor, was at the White House today in consultation with the President. It is understood that he has returned to Buffalo to make preparations for coming to Washington. It is reported that he is regarded as a trusted district attorney of the district of New York has been formally tendered. Mr. Alexander was once a law clerk in the office of Harrison, Miller & Elam. The President possessed a warm friendship for him, and shortly after his inauguration named him for the United States district attorneyship of the Northern district of New York. Mr. Alexander had been a resident of Buffalo but a few years.

Inspector-General Dumont's Report.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Inspector-General Dumont, in his report of the department of the steamboat inspection service for the year ended June 30, shows that 6,725 vessels, with a net tonnage of 1,315,436, were inspected, and 31,622 officers were licensed. The number of foreign vessels inspected was 257. The total number of accidents was 32, resulting in the death of 301 persons, of whom 92 were passengers. It is estimated that 5,500,000 passengers were carried on steam vessels during the year. During the fifteen years beginning with 1875 and ending with the present year, the number of steam vessels in the United States has increased from 845 in 1875 to 6,725 in 1889, a gain of 73 per cent.

Judge Cooley and the Supreme Bench.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—It is reported here that the President has for some time had his eye on Judge Cooley as a likely candidate for the vacancy on the Supreme bench. Judge Cooley has said that he prefers his present place on the interstate commerce commission, but his friends assert that his ambition has always been to sit upon the bench of the Supreme court. His illness is causing considerable alarm, notwithstanding the favorable reports from his home at Ana, Ariz. It is not so much the present attack that gives his friends such great uneasiness as the fact that his health breaks down so frequently of late. Nervous prostration is his ailment.

Estimates for the State Department.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—The estimates of the State department for expenditures during the year 1890-1 are about the same as submitted last year by Secretary Bayard, and aggregate about $3,000,000. The principal new item is $5,000 for furniture for the new building on the State department grounds. The new building has no new furniture and but few repairs since its original outfitting twelve or fifteen years ago, and the carpets especially need renewing.

Consul Lewis Clearing Himself.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Walker Blaine says that so far as the records of the State department show the charge of Ramon Azquez, ex-interpreter at the United States consulate in Tangiers, against Consul Lewis of withholding his pay as interpreter is unfounded.

Illinois Appointments.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—Secretary Windland has appointed James H. Hubbard to be government storekeeper in Chicago internal revenue district and John N. McPherson as gauger in the Peoria district.

Dyspepsia

Makes many lives miserable, and often leads to self destruction. Distress after eating, sick headache, heartburn, sour stomach, mental depression, etc., are caused by this very common and increasing disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla tones the stomach, creates an appetite, promotes healthy digestion, relieves sick headache, clears the mind, and cures the most obstinate cases of dyspepsia. Read the following:

"I have been troubled with dyspepsia. I had but little appetite, and what I did eat distressed me, or did me little good. In an hour after eating I would experience a faintness or tired, all-gone feeling, as though I had not eaten anything. Hood's Sarsaparilla did me an immense amount of good. It gave me an appetite, cleared my food, and satisfied the craving I had previously experienced. It relieved me of that faint, tired, all-gone feeling. I have felt so much better since I took Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I am happy to recommend it." G. A. PAGE, Watertown, Mass. N. B. Be sure to get only

HOW DR. CRONIN DIED

TESTIMONY IN THE GREAT TRIAL AT CHICAGO.

Several Witnesses Positively Identify the Body—The Post-Mortem Physicians on the Cause of Death.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The Cronin trial continues to draw an audience completely filling the dingy little court room. The plan of the prosecution is to identify the body of the man who was killed in the catch-bag to be that of Dr. Cronin. The fact is that the body found in the catch-bag was so heavily weighted as to prevent even an attempt on the part of the defense to controvert it.

Before court opened the blood-stained trunk was transferred from the South side where it had been kept since the night of the murder to the vault in the State's Attorney's office. It will be introduced in evidence at an early stage of the trial. The jury are lodged at the Commercial hotel, and while they are conducted to and from the hotel after each adjournment, the body of the man who was killed in the catch-bag is kept in the State's Attorney's office.

The first witness called by the state was Nicholas Wallenborn, a wholesale liquor dealer. Mr. Wallenborn testified in reply to Mr. Mills, who conducted the examination, that he had known Dr. Cronin for five years, and saw him at an average of twice a week. He saw the body in the Lake View morgue and recognized it as that of Dr. Cronin.

"How did you know it?" asked the attorney.

"I knew it so well that the moment I looked at it I knew it to be Dr. Cronin. I knew it by the general appearance."

Mr. Wallenborn was very brief.

T. T. Conklin, in whose house Dr. Cronin lived, was the next witness. Mr. Conklin testified that he lived on May street, at 12 North Clark street. Mr. Conklin said that he knew Dr. Cronin intimately. The doctor had been a member of his family some ten years, both in St. Louis and Chicago.

Mr. Conklin said he was called to the Lake View morgue at 10 o'clock the night of May 23, and in company with May P. Scanlan, John J. Cronin, and several other friends, he recognized the body as that of Dr. Cronin.

"By what peculiarities did you recognize it?"

"By the forehead, the nose, the teeth, the hands, an injured finger, and the general appearance."

"What peculiarities existed in the teeth?"

"His teeth were peculiar. Dr. Cronin had large teeth and they were wide apart. Four of his front teeth in the lower jaw were missing. He had false teeth and wore a plate on the right side of his mouth."

John F. Scanlan testified that he had known Dr. Cronin since the presidential campaign of 1894. During the last year he had seen the doctor almost every day. He saw him last about 5 o'clock, May 23.

He next saw his dead body at the morgue in Lake View. He recognized the body by the teeth, the hands, the forehead, and general appearance.

"Take the witness," said Mr. Mills.

Mr. Forrest went deeply into the witness' history and business.

"You are a member of the Clan-na-gael?"

"I was a member of the United Brotherhood, commonly known as the Clan-na-gael."

"How long since you joined the order?"

"I belonged to it about twelve years ago."

"Before that you belonged to the Fenians?"

"I did."

Cronin's Last Seen Friend.

Frank Scanlan testified that he had known Dr. Cronin since 1884, when the doctor examined him for admission to the Catholic Order of Foresters.

He last saw Dr. Cronin alive a few minutes before the doctor left his house on the night of May 23.

He saw the doctor drawn by the white horse. He saw the body at the morgue at Lake View and recognized it as Dr. Cronin's.

He identified the body by the general appearance, the hair, and the teeth.

"Describe the teeth?" FRANK T. SCANLAN.

The front teeth were very large and far apart and one was out. The lower teeth were small.

Mr. Forrest, in reply to Mr. Forrest, said he had noticed the doctor's teeth by frequently seeing the doctor gaze when witness visited the latter at his office. His attention was called to the teeth on these occasions because of the manner in which they were concealed by the doctor's mustache.

David P. Ahern, a tailor, had known Dr. Cronin for some years and frequently saw him daily. He recognized the body at the morgue by the impression on his chin and the shape of his forehead.

George Finger and William Michel, laborers who assisted in removing the body from the catch-bag, each described that operation.

The Body in the Catch Basin.

Ex-Police Capt. Wing of Lake View was the next witness.

Capt. Wing was in charge of the officers who took the body from the catch-bag.

In one detail he differed from previous witnesses. Capt. Wing said the body rested with the head in the catch-bag, the feet near the grate in the ditch. Other witnesses testified that the feet were in the sewer inlet. In other respects the captain's evidence corroborated that of other witnesses.

In reply to Mr. Forrest Capt. Wing said he had been a Pinkerton detective eight years.

There was some anticipatory excitement when Patrick McGarry was called. Mr. McGarry's well known antipathy to the defense became a hard witness for Dr. Cronin has made him a prominent figure in this case.

McGarry said that he had known Dr. Cronin about four and one-half years, and for the last year had met the doctor at least three times a week. He saw the body at the morgue.

"Where was it?"

"Dr. P. H. Cro-PATRICK McGARRY."

How did you recognize it?"

"By his general appearance. I knew it was Dr. Cronin's face, only it was a little bloated."

"Are you a member of the Clan-na-gael?"

"Yes, sir."

The Doctor's Dentist on the Stand.

Dr. C. W. Lewis, Dr. Cronin's dentist, testified that he had known Dr. Cronin some six years. He was his dentist, and had Murderer Chambers' Tragic Declaration in Court.

St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 26.—The preliminary examination of B. M. Chambers for the killing of Frank J. Bowman, the lawyer, was concluded at Clayton and Chambers was held to the grand jury without bail.

May 24 Lewis was put upon the stand and detailed the story of the shooting. He stated that when he shot Bowman the latter made a motion as if to draw a revolver, and believing one or the other must be killed he fired. Chambers concluded his statement by declaring in a tragic manner: "I shot him and am glad of it; he would have robbed me of my last penny, and he deserved his death."

BIG HAUL OF A BURGLAR.

A Kansas City Man Robbed of $1,400 After a Desperate Struggle.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 26.—George W. Thompson drew $2,100 in cash out of the bank yesterday afternoon. Before he went home he paid a note of $700 and when he went to bed he put the remainder under his pillow. During the night a burglar entered his room and, presenting a revolver at his head, demanded the money. Mr. Thompson involuntarily grappled with the intruder and during the struggle the burglar was discharged, the bullet barely missing Mr. Thompson's head. The thief broke away finally, grabbing the money from under the pillow, and escaped. Mr. Thompson was badly used up in the struggle.

Sentenced to Death by Electricity.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Charles McElvaine, 19 years old, who murdered Christian W. Lucas while committing a burglary the night of Aug. 21, was sentenced by Judge Moore in the Kings county court sessions this morning to death by electricity at Sing Sing prison in the first week in December.

Last Report of Gov. White of Montana.

HELENA, Mont., Oct. 26.—Gov. White, in his annual report to the Secretary of the Interior, estimates the white population of Montana at 170,000 and the Indians at 15,000. The total wealth of Montana is given at $150,000,000. The condition of the school system has improved in a remarkable degree. The Governor advocates the reorganization of Montana to State jurisdiction, and urges that the control of all water courses and water rights, as well as irrigable lands, be given to the State.

Marble Bust of Oliver P. Morton.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 26.—A marble bust of Oliver P. Morton has been received by the Morton family from Sculptor Simon, of Rome, Italy. A. A. McKain, of this city, is preparing a granite pedestal for it, and the statue will be placed in position at the grave of the war Governor in Crown Hill by Nov. 5, which is the anniversary of his death. The height of the memorial when complete will be ten feet. The bust is of heroic size. The likeness is considered fair by those who have examined it.

To Go Out as Missionaries.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 26.—At the third day's session of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society's conference Miss Hart of the Baltimore branch presented the report for the Madras district of India and Mrs. Cranford of the Northwestern district read a report from Bombay. The afternoon session was opened with a memorial service, after which the conference was addressed by several accepted candidates, who will shortly leave for foreign parts in the capacity of missionaries.

Left Seven Millions Behind.

FRANKFORT, Mich., Oct. 26.—S. S. Thompson, of Vermont, widely known in circles all over the United States, died here Thursday night. He was a large stockholder in the Canadian Pacific and his estate is estimated to be worth $7,000,000. He was president of the Frankfort & Southern railroad, which he was to have completed in November.

For President of the Health Association.

LANSING, Mich., Oct. 26.—A private dispatch from Brooklyn, N. Y., says that Dr. H. B. Baker of this city, secretary of the Michigan State board of health, has been unanimously nominated for president of the American Health association.

Beetle's Strength.

Continually on the strain, or overtaxed intervals, far less desirable than ordinary vigor perpetuated by rational diet and exercise, and abstention from excess. Professional pugilists and athletes rarely attain extreme old age. As a reward for sanitary living and for the protection against disease which timely and judicious medication affords, so also it may be lost through prolonged sedentary labor, uninterrupted mental strain, and coolish eating and drinking, the chief and most immediate sequels of all four being dyspepsia. For this condition, thus, or in any way induced, and for its offspring, a failure of muscular and nerve power, Hostetter's Stomach Bitter is the most potent and most general remedy. Not only indigestion, but loss of flesh, appetite and sleep are remedied by it. Appetite malarial and rheumatism are banished, bowel and liver complaint removed by it.

PAIN AND DREAD attend the use of most catarrh remedies. Liquids and snuffs are unpleasant as well as dangerous. Ely's Cream Balm is safe, pleasant, easily applied to the nostrils and gives a cure. It cures the nasal passages and heals the inflamed membrane, giving relief at once. Price 50c.

The most obstinate cases of catarrh are cured by the use of Ely's Cream Balm, the only agreeable remedy. It is not a

THE MYSTERIOUS VOICE.

An Engineer's Story.

"It was when I was running on the White Mountain road," said the engineer, shifting a big quid of tobacco to the other side of his mouth. "I had you've seen the line. Curves and grades on it are enough to make a feller's hair stand on end. I was just married then, and Mell and I were just about as happy as we could be, the only drawback to our happiness being the fact that I had to run the late express every other night up to Fabian's and the accommodation back the next day. Mell used to be afraid to have me go, and used to worry every night. I knew she did, for the road was new and accidents would happen in spite of everything. But the pay was good and so I stuck by."

"Well, one night in January—one of my off nights—the superintendent sent for me and said:

"Jim, there's a party of Boston men want to go up through the mountain to-night, and we'll have to run a special. Can you take it? I know it's your night off, but I'll make it an object to you."

"Well, I'll go," says I, "of course, but it's going to be a bad night up there."

"That's so, I am afraid," says he. "But the directors say they must go through, anyway. And I know I can rely on you to get them through."

"I'll go," says I, "of course, but it's going to be a bad night up there."

THEIR NEW MODE OF GIVING THE GRAND BOUCE.

The Madison Journal is responsible for this:—Some ingenious mind has suggested a new way for a girl to get rid of an objectionable beau, who is impervious to all hints. She gives him a pencil and paper, with one of her sweetest smiles, and says: "Now make a perpendicular line mark downward on the right of the first paper; upward on the right of the fourth; downward on the right of the fifth; upward on the right of the seventh and eighth; downward on the right of the tenth." The marks should be half an inch in length and attached to the ciphers. Ask him to read what she has written. The effect is electrical.

A FAT SPANIEL.

AND HOW HIS KIND MASTER WAS FOOLED.

He lives in a fashionable house in one of the handsomest streets in the city, and is not only fond of horse-back exercise, but likewise of household pets. Many summers and winters have come and gone since last he was heard to exclaim "what is home without a baby," and is now content with his good wife and such feline and canine pets as are best adapted to the hearthstone. In these he takes great delight, and for years his coming and going has been cheered by an ever faithful pet spaniel. This little pet has always been the favorite of the household, each one vying with the other in careful attention. He in his leisure moments and rest from the turmoil of the busy streets, found pleasure and pastime in playing with this pet on the lawn, sending it after sticks and stones, which it delighted to bring back to the kind mistress whenever thrown. The kind mistress found pleasure and happiness in her leisure moments or while taking a short respite from her household duties, in bestowing upon it her kindly attention and fondling. A neighbor who had coveted the possession of this favorite pet for many months, finally succeeded in purchasing one almost the exact image, and it was brought home one day and placed in the neighbor's house. Noon-time came and he who lives in the fashionable house in one of the handsomest streets in the city, arrived at his gate, and was somewhat astonished that his pet spaniel was not there to meet him. He whistled but no "Don" responded to the call. Looking around he spied the neighbor's pet over on the threshold of the next door. "What are you doing over there, Don?" and he snatched his fingers and whistled again, bidding his pet to come to him.

The spaniel did not come.

"Come, Donny, come home," thus speaking he walked to the line fence, and the neighbor's spaniel started for the kennel at the rear of the house, showing signs of having "cut his acquaintance." This action rather disturbed the usual good temper of "Don's" master, and over the fence he went, succeeding in catching the neighbor's dog by the collar, which now crunched down to the ground in fear. "Come Don, come home with me now."

The spaniel couldn't see it, and showed no signs of obeying.

He ceased and pleaded with his supposed Don, but for no use. He finally administered a severe chastisement and when again freed the dog made haste to hide under the neighbor's barn. He went into his own home disappointed at his failure to reclaim the friendship of his pet. Entering the sitting room he was again somewhat astonished at beholding his favorite Don resting playfully in the lap of the good housewife.

"Why, Mary," said he, "I have been trying for several minutes to get 'Don' to come home. When I arrived at the gate he was over in neighbor's yard. I went over there and when he refused to come home with me I just gave him a good whipping and he ran off to the barn, and after all he has best me into the house."

"I guess you are mistaken, John," said the smiling woman; "Don has been in my lap for the last half hour waiting for you to come home. You have been whipping him. — dog; he has just jumped over the fence and looks like Don."

John laid aside his hat and laid overcoat and partook of the noon-day meal, wondering if the newspapers would "catch on."

James S. Murphy, M. D., Company's Shops, N. O. writes:—"I tell a great deal of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, for every one who tries it, likes it."

"There are more things in heaven and earth, Horatio, than are dreamt of in your philosophy." Of course! Why those old doctors suffer horribly with aches and pains; and didn't and couldn't know that Salvation Oil would cure them.

WHEELER AND WILSON AHEAD.

CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 8.

Mr. A. Golling.

DEAR SIR—We received the following dispatch this day:

EXPOSITION UNIVERSALE, PARIS.—The highest possible premium and the only grand prize for sewing machines, was awarded the Wheeler & Wilson Mfg. Co. We would also add that the No. 9 has taken the first premium at the State fairs of Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin. These being the only State fairs at which it was exhibited, and the No. 9 has also taken the first premium at all the county fairs that we have heard from where it was exhibited. This clearly shows that the No. 9 is gaining in favor and that it is without question the lightest running and most speedy machine in the market. That it makes the finest stitch, and will do the largest amount of work without extra attachment of any machine in the market.

Mr. Golling is the agent for Rock county. Call and see machines.

TOO MANY CIPHERS.

WHICH CALLS OUT THE FOLLOWING SENTIMENT.

To the Editor.

JANEVILLE, Wis., Oct. 26, 1889.

I see in your last evening's issue that Gen. Griffin informed a Milwaukee Journal reporter that he would soon have 6000 overcoats on hand for the W. N. G. What in the name of the good people of Wisconsin is he going to do with 6000 overcoats for less than 2300 men. We always took Mike for a warm-hearted man but don't think he means to give every man three overcoats, and at $11.25 each would be $67,500. We think our last legislature was not so generous as that for overcoats alone. Is there not some mistake? W. B. BARTON.

Through the manipulations of a compositor "600" was made to read "6000." That's all.
